cloud37

CLOUD NATIVE COACHING

Your personal coach, who will be at your side and work with you to ensure the success of your cloud native journey thanks to their expertise and experience.

Problem

Cloud native is very extensive and, in addition to the technical solutions, also affects the organization, culture and processes. Very few companies have the resources and knowledge to tackle all these aspects alone.

So-called cognitive biases can pose a latent risk to the success of a cloud native transformation. There is a need for targeted, independent, and experience-based support.

Solution

Having a coach at your side to mirror your ideas, procedures, and goals and to benefit from their experience helps you to successfully master the transformation, avoid stumbling blocks and avoid any blind spots.

Using tried and tested methods (so-called patterns), we ensure that you are on the right path to your transformation and do not lose sight of your goal. A coach can also support you in the concrete steps, e.g. by moderating workshops, managing hackathons, or organizing training sessions.

Key Features

Depending on the phase you are in on the Cloud Native Journey and your specific needs, the coaching may include (not exhaustive):

- Using market-tested methods (so-called patterns) to provide targeted support for your specific transformation path.
- Challenging and providing feedback on your ideas and plans.
- Definition and moderation of workshops (strategy & vision, organization & culture, development & processes, infrastructure).
- Organization and implementation of hackathons or training courses.
- Temporary takeover of specific roles (e.g. product owner).

Benefits

- Sustainable anchroing in the organization: A coach does not do it for you but supports you in doing it yourself and thus sustainably anchoring the learning effect in the organization.
- Avoidance of cognitive bias: There are countless so-called cognitive biases, often unconscious – a coach can help to avoid these.
- Benefit from experience: You are not the first company to carry out a cloud native transformation – benefit from the experience of others!

Stefan Lengacher
Product Manager
stefan.lengacher@cloud37.io

www.cloud37.io

in